I appreciate the follow up. The article is a start, but it raises questions. When a woman is prosecuted and sent to prison, I am not sure how that is defined as an "unsuccessful prosecution".

The DA court motion process to stop the filing of the suit in early 2009 was not successful. The law suit was filed in Sept 2009. The DA conspiracy, with Laura Gunn leading in April 2009, to suppress adverse supporting evidence in the Officer Damon Smith Evidence tampering investigation was successful. The involvement of multiple police officers, and eight years of corrupted criminal prosecutions was buried by Gunn and the DA's office with the support of the Oceanside Police. When a criminal complaint was filed against Gunn and others, she was quietly terminated and declared to be an employee problem to bury the criminal complaint, avoid exposure of the eight years of corrupted cases, and to protect Dumanis, and the DA's office from that $20 million dollar law suit. It is also why the DA's Special Operations office under DDA Mosler, in November of 2009, suppressed criminal investigations of the ongoing Officer Jon Domonique evidence tampering, the DDA Daniel Rodriguez evidence tampering, and the Oceanside Police/Fire election fraud conspiracy. Any real criminal investigation, of any of the public corruption, would have lead directly back to the other crimes, and nobody in the media wanted to cover it.

If you have not read the article on the election fraud recently, you might take the time to read it, as additional supporting evidence has been added to the article. The OFA actually set up and coordinated three illegal money channels to manipulate the election and the votes of citizens, with multiple documented supporting crimes. The initial fraud damages to the citizens of Oceanside is the approx. $500,000.00 cost of a recall election, that was a conspiracy, a fraud, and public criminal corruption as defined by the FBI.

I'm not sure where we are on the rest of the matters.
Ricky: can you give woody a realistic evaluation of where his concerns fit in your list?
